???????? (YCT)

The new YCT[1] is an international standardized test of Chinese language proficiency. It assesses young foreign students' abilities to use Chinese in their daily and academic lives. The new YCT[1] consists of a writing test and a speaking test, which are independent of each other. The writing test is divided into four levels, namely, the YCT[1] (level I), YCT[1] (level II), YCT[1] (level III), and YCT[1] (level IV). The speaking test is divided into the YCT[1] (Beginner Level) and YCT[1] (Intermediate Level).

Test Principle:

The new YCT[1] aims to improve Chinese language learners' self-confidence and follows the principle of 'test-teaching correlation'. It bases the design of the test on current trends in international Chinese language training and is closely related to textbook learning procedures. The purpose of the test is to 'promote training through testing' and 'promote learning through testing'.

What are YCT test scores used for?

The YCT[1] is intended for students whose mother tongue is not Chinese. The results of the test can serve various purposes:
3. A method for Chinese language training institutions to evaluate training results.

Test Levels:
The different levels of the new YCT\textsuperscript{[1]} are similar to some of the levels in the Chinese Language Proficiency Scales for Speakers of Other Languages (CLPS) and the Common European Framework of Reference (CEF); details are as follows:
